"Attorneys and other legal professionals increasingly depend on electronic resources for their research," CSC® Publishing Director Andrea Unterberger notes. "With this website, it's unbelievably fast and easy to find the statute you're looking for, find relevant cases and statutes that appear in the text, record your own thoughts about the material, and even incorporate it in your own documents on the desktop. It's exactly what you need."

In addition, because the website is browser-based, users can access it simply by logging on. "You don't have to install software or deal with CD-ROMs, and you can access the website from any computer with an Internet connection," she explains. "It takes about two minutes to set up your account, and you've got all the Delaware law you need in an interactive format at your fingertips."

Unterberger also points out that CSC Publishing will handle user registration for firms ordering a large quantity of books. "We would need only the first name, last name and email address of each user to get them up and running immediately,” she says, which saves time and trouble for the users and the librarian support staff. (For more information about the registration service, contact Kathy Grube at 800.927.9801 or by email at kgrube@cscinfo.com.)
